Concentration Statement

1. As you look at a high school, you see a mass of teenagers attending a school for 6 hours a day, 5 days a week. However, when you look at each student individually, you see a uniqueness that sets them apart from everything else. The beauty of this is that when you combine all of these characters around campus, it makes a high school a special place, much like Newbury Park is.

2. Looking into my pictures, I saw the different personalities of everybody that I photographed. With these 5 people alone, it shaped my presentation. But with 2,500 students, it shapes Newbury Park High School.
